Large incisional hernias (LIH) have a high incidence in Kuwait and are associated with high morbidity. Non-surgical management is frequently used to manage these patients. A retrospective analysis was conducted of all LIH that were managed non-surgically at our institution over a period of 18 years. A total of 46 patients (59.6% women; mean age 51.9 years) with LIH were managed non-surgically and followed up for a mean of 40.8 months. All of the patients presented with post-operative complications. Thirty-five patients (76.1%) developed infection that required repair, nine patients (19.6%) developed compression of the intestine, and two patients (4.3da54e8ca3
