This way, it's not going to accidentally erase your saved results when you close the browser and open it again. If the "share"-button gets more clicks than the "save"-button, the newly found items will be displayed in a slightly modified window and on a new tab. The idea is to make searching, shopping and sharing as easy as possible. We believe it's a very well designed extension that is the best way to browse through fashion. The "save" window is now open in its own window. Please leave your comments and share with us as we

You would be willing to instantly shop for it, but you don't have a clue where to start off from. To your rescue comes Fashion Lover, a simplistic yet surprisingly efficient Chrome extension that aims to be your personal shopping assistant. In plain words, this small tool helps you shop for almost any not-overly-complicated outfit you find online. A useful Chrome extension that seems entirely aimed at online shopaholics Just like the broad majority of Chrome extensions, it can be deployed with no more than a simple mouse click on the "ADD TO CHROME" button from the Chrome Web Store. To get started, simply find a picture of an outfit you like, click the extension's little button from the right side of Chrome's address bar, wait a few seconds, and, once it has detected the fashion accessories in question, click their associated geometrical figures. Surprisingly capable algorithm for visually detecting clothes Of course, it's worth pointing out that the degree of accuracy varies according to the actual "readability" of the picture. That said, you are bound to discover that zooming in on various elements of the outfit usually helps the extension detect them a bit better. Backgrounds and postures also play a key role, and it's recommended that you find pictures with plain backgrounds and without quirky angles. Click the geometrical shapes associated with any detected outfit element, and you are automatically provided with all the similar products from a wide array of brands and shops.
