What's New In?

- Fully interactive installation - Fully customizable - Configuration does not need programming skills - Save installation logs - Patch management and troubleshooting - Support for uninstallers - Supports both major Windows versions - NT, Win2K, 2000, XP, 7, 8, 8.1, 10 The PATCHifier application has been tested successfully on the following Operating Systems: Windows XP, Vista, 7, 8, 8.1, 10 Windows Server 2008, 2008R2, 2012, 2012R2 PATCHifier's default layout is: 1. Clients view 2. Server view The client and server views can be changed by using the "View" option in the menu. PATCHifier can be used to the following: - Install multiple patches at once - Install Patch IDs only (no installing the patches) - Adjust settings - Set initial time zone (required if installing patches from a different time zone) To open the PATCHifier client click on the icon in the system tray. You may also open the PATCHifier client from within the system. A note about versioning: The configuration is stored in the registry. It is recommended that you create a backup of the registry. Before you change the registry settings back to the "standard" settings you will need to click on the "Restore defaults" button. In case of an error, please check the "Restore defaults" button first. You may also backup the configuration by using the "Save to file" option. If you have problems with the installation, please check the "Errors" button. If the installation fails but you can still see the PATCHifier client, please check the "Check log files" button. This option will open the log files that are located in the PATCHifier client's "logs" folder. The log files will contain important information if the installation fails or works, but the actual log files themselves are very large and they can take some time to read through. In order to read the errors immediately, please use a good editor like Notepad++ to open the log file. The following errors are common: - The server user account is not well created - The servers user does not exist - The server user does not have the right to create and remove files The following errors are common to NT and Win2K applications: - Cannot install offline of a patch made for NT -
