Roblox is an online sandbox game creation platform that has created thousands of educational and entertaining games. Users can create their own user-generated content (UgC) games within an immersive 3D virtual world, and share them via user-friendly website, mobile apps, and social media apps. Once launched, users are able to customize and personalize a unique experience that can be shared with friends and family across the globe. Created games and experiences can include user stories, as well as school subjects, life topics and real world interests. Various educational games have been made, such as coding, history, and geography education for elementary and middle schools. There are two parts to the Roblox experience. The first is the Roblox environment in which users create worlds and programs, which is also sometimes called a game engine. The second is a way for users to share their games with the Roblox community. Websites - Android - iOS - Amazon - -- Thanks for liking, commenting, sharing, and subscribing to our channel! DavidBaszucki: (creator of Roblox) "My name is David and I love making games. I started off making a couple of text adventure games that my friends and I would play together. It wasn't long before I had my first game, "Bloxter," which is a puzzle game where you use a slingshot to shoot blox at other blox. It was a simple game and one of the first for mobile, but I was hooked." What is Roblox? Roblox is a place where kids of all ages can create their own fun, personalized worlds. The web-based games are easy to create and play, and allow kids to use their imaginations to express themselves. Players can also create virtual items to customize their own unique world.
