A: The "X FORCE keygen" you see refers to the Autodesk 2011 x-force product: It's a free tool that can be downloaded from the Autodesk website. It lets you convert free CAD models into X-Force compliant versions (which you have to pay for) by correcting "custom properties" (such as number of faces and number of vertices). The resulting X-Force compliant model can then be viewed with the 3D Viewer and used in the product platform (autocad, 3ds Max, solidworks) Q: Php unserialize seems to work, but i get empty array This is my POST data: Array ([userID] => 46 [userName] => John Smith [userImage] => John Smith image [userBio] => John Smith bio) This is how I create the array: $userData = unserialize(file_get_contents('user.txt')); file.txt: Array ([46] => Array ([userID] => 46 [userName] => John Smith [userImage] => John Smith image [userBio] => John Smith bio)) But what I get instead of an Array is a Array-object. And when I do an echo $userData, it returns a string: Array ([46] => Array ([userID] => 46 [userName] => John Smith [userImage] => John Smith image [userBio] => John Smith bio)) Why does unserialize make it string 6d1f23a050
