Field of the Invention The present invention relates to the use of cysteine-containing compounds, i.e., cysteine-analogues, as adjuvants in vaccination against tumour development. 2. Description of Related Art WO 02/098817 describes various cysteine-analogues, which are defined in the general term of cysteine-containing compounds. A possible application is disclosed in which cysteine-analogues are introduced into cells as a result of the biological activity of a carcinogenic substance. The most advantageous cysteine-analogue is glutathione (GSH), with a sulphhydryl group. It is said that glutathione is especially suited to a prophylactic effect against carcinogenesis. In this respect, glutathione as well as cysteine-analogues are characterised by good solubility in aqueous medium. This applies especially to the thiol group (sulphhydryl group), which is ubiquitous and also happens to be a characteristic feature of cysteine-an
